

9. National Weather Service

---

Date: 2023-4-25

Status

Accepted

Context

The information from National Weather Service was already in place. It is San Bernardino's source for weather data.

Decision

It is readily available for San Bernardino to use. With its reliable information from a trustworthy source, it can help San Bernardino to plan ahead for snowplow routes and inform citizens on safety concerns for snowstorms.

Consequences

Due to historical use, the information from the National Weather Service is already accepted by this organization. There may be other sources of weather information that could be used.